

FIRST NATIONS
HEALTH CONSORTIUM

Treaty Status Registration Support

First Nations Health Consortium (FNHC) staff can support the application process for First Nations children and adults living in Alberta to obtain Treaty Status registration also known as 'Indian Status'.

Treaty Status protects your treaty rights and has several benefits including:

- Non-Insured Health Benefits (NIHB) for dental, vision, mental health, pharmacy products, medical supplies and medical transportation.
- Hunting, fishing and harvesting rights.
- Recognized rights related to cultural identity.

You may be entitled to be registered if:

- At least one of your parents is registered or entitled to be registered under subsection 6 (1) of the Indian Act or;
- Both of your parents are registered or entitled to be registered under subsection 6 (1) or 6 (2) of the Indian Act.

Applications we assist with:

- Children (15 or younger) or dependent adults.
- Adults (16 or older).
- Secure Certificate of Indian Status (SCIS) card and renewal.

How can you access these services?

Call 1-844-558-8748 or visit: www.abfnhc.com/registration.

Benefits of working with our Registration Coordinators

- Expertise that will help guide next steps for you or your child(ren) when dealing with complex situations that may be barriers to having a complete application for you or your children's Treaty Status (Indian Status).
- Support navigating the application processes to ensure you have all the documentation needed for a complete application.
- Assistance with obtaining the documents you need such as birth certificates, photo identification and more.

Our staff have community connections and lived experience as Indigenous People and those with personal knowledge of youth support services, which allows us to build relationships with youth and families from a place of understanding and compassion.

About the First Nations Health Consortium

The First Nations Health Consortium (FNHC) supports First Nations and Inuit children and families with Jordan's Principle applications in Alberta to ensure children and youth can access the services or supports they need, in line with the Jordan's Principle child-first legal ruling.

FNHC staff work with First Nations families on treaty status registration assistance as well as advising youth during their journey into adulthood. The FNHC also collaborates and fundraises with partner organizations to implement community programming in sports and recreation, early childhood reading and youth engagement initiatives.

FIRST NATIONS
HEALTH CONSORTIUM

Toll Free: 1-844-558-8748 | Website: www.abfnhc.com

Begin a Jordan's Principle Application online: www.abfnhc.com/intakes

EDMONTON: 17015-105 Avenue NW, Edmonton, AB T5S 1M5 | Fax: (780) 784-8842

CALGARY: 101 - 3016 19th Street NE, Calgary, AB, T2E 6Y9 | Fax: (587) 391-1362